

Our cable TV and satellite connections throughout the house are terminated here.

Our file server is on the left and our web server (www.dnsmn.com) is on the right. DNSMN.com was created to provide communication for those who are terminally ill and need to communicate to a large number of people.

Our Netgear 24-port Ethernet switch (with 2-gigabit ports) is shown here plus our cable modem and Lingo modem which provides voice over IP (VoIP) for our home phone line.

Dale has done a superb job of wiring our network and phones.
